

CONSUMER FINANCE DISPUTES

OVERVIEW

BCLP has long advised banks, non-bank lenders and servicers, student loan companies, credit card issuers, auto finance companies, debt collectors, alternative finance providers and investors, on major regulatory, enforcement and litigation matters. In the U.S., our Consumer Financial Services (CFS) team includes many leaders in the private CFS bar, former in-house counsel at financial institutions and former government officials. We can bring our experience and pragmatic know-how to bear to mitigate risk in the "business as usual" environment or once a crisis begins to unfold.

OUR SKILLS AND EXPERIENCE

Regulatory

- Compliance strategy & support
- Compliance reviews
- Supervisory examinations management
- Product and service Development
- Consumer complaint response
- Risk assessments
- Management of pre-enforcement matters
- Litigation-based process improvement & mitigation

Enforcement

- Engaging with state and federal (CFPB) regulators early to narrow enforcement

COLLABORATIVE TEAMS

CFS clients benefit from BCLP's cross-discipline approach. For example, our Finance, Corporate, Securities & White Collar practices bring substantial knowledge of the complex regulatory and business environment in which clients operate. Likewise, our Public Policy and Government Affairs practice includes preeminent lawyers and advisors who provide government relations and strategic counsel on issues that impact the operations and business models of CFS companies. We thrive in diverse teams and bring the best combination of resources to solve complex issues and mitigate risk.

TECHNOLOGY SOLUTIONS

Our Client Technology Group is also widely known for the innovative business and legal solutions it has created for a number of clients in the financial sector. For example, we developed a new technology solution that had a significant impact on legal spend for a national mortgage lender beset with hundreds of mortgage-related suits. We created a web-based risk assessment system that let lawyers develop risk and cost profiles very early in each matter and then track those variables throughout the life of each case. The availability at any point in a case of detailed risk and cost assessments highlighted cases that could and should be settled early, and that in turn reduced unnecessary discovery and trial expense.

RAPID RESPONSE

We can dive in to quickly assess developing issues and help craft strategy. Today, CFS clients face unprecedented challenges arising from the global COVID-19 pandemic. A wave of borrower forbearance and deferral requests at a time when CFS clients are themselves in a telework environment creates significant regulatory, enforcement and litigation risks. To help our CFS clients eliminate or mitigate such risks, BCLP has assembled a dedicated, rapid response team of CFS lawyers. Our team has decades of experience collectively, forged both before, during and after the 2008 financial crisis.

We can help CFS clients assess real-time operations risk, strategize responses to regulatory, DOJ or State AG inquiries, assist in enhancing process and response times by assessing workflows and job aids, defend clients against enforcement charges and/or class action litigation. We regularly partner with CFS clients facing issues on multiple fronts. Currently, we are advising and defending CFS clients in connection with CARES Act SBA Paycheck Protection Program class action litigation and regulations interpretation challenges. We also are advising CFS clients on CARES Act FCRA requirements changes and related CARES Act consumer credit collections and servicing interim measures.

What will the disputes landscape look like for firms subject to the Consumer Duty?

On 27 July 2022, the FCA published its policy statement, PS22/9, setting out its final rules for its new Consumer Duty ("Duty"), together with accompanying non-Handbook guidance. The Duty aims to set higher standards of consumer protection across the financial services sector and consists of: A new Consumer Principle requiring firms to act to deliver good outcomes for retail customers (new Principle 12 of the FCA's Principles for businesses, which will replace Principles 6 and 7 for retail business); Cross-cutting rules providing further detail on the FCA's expectations under the Duty (these require firms to: act in good faith towards retail customers; avoid foreseeable harm to retail customers; and to enable and support retail customers to pursue their financial objectives); and Rules relating to the four outcomes that the FCA wants to see under the Duty (these outcomes relate to: products and services; price and v...

NYDFS Imposes Heavy Fine and Adopts Expansive View of Multi-Factor Authentication Requirements Under Cybersecurity Regulations: The Latest Lessons

The New York Department of Financial Services (NYDFS) recently announced the resolution, through Consent Order, of its third enforcement action against entities subject to the agency's Cybersecurity Regulations ("Cyber Regulations"). The settlement is notable because it reflects the first public interpretation of the multi-factor authentication (MFA) rule by the NYDFS – an interpretation not evident from the plain text of the rule itself – and the assessment by NYDFS of its largest fine under the Cyber Regulations to date.

Lessons Learned from New York's Second Cybersecurity Action

The New York Department of Financial Services (NYDFS) has announced its second regulatory enforcement action against a regulated entity (a New York licensed mortgage banker and loan servicer) for violating NYDFS's Cybersecurity Regulations. The action involved the mortgage banker's failure to report a data breach – a breach caused by an employee overriding the company's multi-factor authentication (MFA) protocol – enabling intruder access. The company agreed to pay a $1.5 million fine and take several actions to bolster its cyber risk and assessment practices.

Changing "Buy Now Pay Later" Regulations & Considerations for Retailers

On 2 February 2021, the FCA published its Review of the Unsecured Credit Market in the UK. The full title of the review is "The Woolard Review - A review of change and innovation in the unsecured credit market" ("the Review"). Critically, the Review recommended that all Buy Now Pay Later ("BNPL") credit arrangements should be brought within the scope of the UK's regulatory regime for consumer credit "as a matter of urgency". Key amongst the various motivating factors for this recommendation is the idea that proper affordability assessments should be carried out on those being offered these credit products so as to prevent, or at least mitigate, potential consumer detriment.
